History & Archaeology M.A. Syllabus

The Two-Year M.A. History & Archaeology study programme is a combination of History and Archaeology paper. The objective is to impart knowledge to the student by way of understanding better of our culture vis-a-vis the other cultures of the world. In doing so, this endeavour would promote and provide critical insights of our cultural heritage.

With a view to making the subject an interdisciplinary one by incorporating units and sub-units on art, architecture, literature, environment, economy, religion, polity, science, etc., the Ist and IInd Semester students would compulsorily opt for all the Four Papers. It is only from the IIIrd and IVth Semester that the students are liable to opt for the following specializations:
